The Opportunity

Due to planned program growth in FGCU's Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) major, the School of Nursing seeks an experienced and motivated Psychiatric Mental Health Nurse Practitioner (PMHNP) to join the DNP Nurse Practitioner faculty team and to teach in the new Psychiatric Mental Health Nurse Practitioner (PMHNP) BSN-DNP Concentration and Post Master's/Post DNP Certificate. This faculty member will hold the rank of Assistant Professor. This full-time position is a 12-month, on-campus continuing appointment.

The Assistant Professor will engage in teaching, service, and scholarly activity. This position reports to the Director, School of Nursing.

The Doctor Nurse Practice (DNP) curriculum emphasizes innovative and evidence-based nursing practice to meet the demands of an increasingly complex health care system, improve the safety and quality of care delivery, and influence health care policy. DNP Nurse Practitioner faculty are committed to the education of future NPs who are competent and well qualified to deliver safe and high-quality care.

Classroom and lab instruction includes planning for a variety of teaching and learning strategies directed at meeting individual learning styles in lecture, online, and hybrid formats. Advising, supervising, and evaluating PMHNP practicum students in conjunction with preceptors is required.

Primary duties may include but are not limited to the following:

- Teach a full load of theory, laboratory, and clinical courses each academic year (Fall, Spring and Summer semesters) primarily in the DNP Program.
- Provide professional academic advisement/mentoring to students.
- Contribute to course and/or curriculum development.
- Engage in research/scholarship as described in Faculty Performance Evaluation Document (FPED) and College documents.
- Function as an effective, active, and collegial team member.
- Actively participate in service to the School, College, University, and professional community.

Required Qualifications

- Earned doctoral degree (PhD, EdD, DNP) in nursing, education, or health related field from a regionally accredited institution/program or equivalent accreditation
- Current national certification as a Psychiatric Mental Health Nurse Practitioner
- Current unrestricted APRN licensure or eligibility for APRN licensure in the state of Florida.
- Current certification in American Heart Association CPR for Healthcare Provider
- Clinical practice experience in the practice role of Psychiatric Mental Health Nurse Practitioner (PMHNP)

Preferred Qualifications

- PhD in Nursing
- Five or more years of Psychiatric Mental Health Nurse Practitioner practice experience
- Experience teaching in the clinical setting
- Experience with the development and delivery of on-line coursework
- Evidence of scholarship leading to professional presentations, research, and/or publications
- Service in professional organizations (e.g., membership and/or committee involvement)
- Bi- or multi-lingual, with Spanish preferred as one of the languages

Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities

- Ability to interact and establish good interpersonal and collaborative relationships with students, faculty, administrators, staff, the Director, the Dean, and the larger FGCU community
- Commitment to creating an inclusive learning climate for students of diverse backgrounds
- Possess academic and experiential expertise in Psychiatric Mental Health Nursing with an emphasis on application of engaging and innovative pedagogy
- Student-centric and service-minded, with the ability to work collaboratively in teams
- Willingness to partake in strategic planning initiatives within the School of Nursing and across the institution to build programs and community partnerships, create new opportunities, and innovate to transform nursing education
- Demonstrated ability to provide effective classroom and clinical instruction in required courses in the area of Psychiatric Mental Health Nursing
- Ability to contribute to the development, implementation, and evaluation of the School of Nursing academic programs
- Ability to provide instruction in classroom, hybrid, or distance-learning formats
- Commitment to maintaining professional competence and certification in the PMHNP specialty
- Participation in scholarly activities that contribute to nursing and academic disciplines

- Demonstration of clear and concise verbal and written communication skills
- Ability to physically perform teaching duties in class, lab, and clinical settings
- Ability to thrive in an organization that values the diversity of its student body and workforce and actively promotes equity and inclusion
- Excellent personal communication and professional manner
- Excellent computer skills, including use of virtual teaching platforms

In Pursuit of Hispanic-Serving Institution Designation

Florida Gulf Coast University seeks to be designated by the federal government as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI). Hispanic or Latino students comprise 25 percent or more of the total enrollment of HSI colleges and universities, and, as of the Spring 2023 enrollment, FGCU's Hispanic and Latino enrollment is 23.5 percent, with the Marieb College of Health & Human Services having the third highest Hispanic and Latino enrollment within the institution. As FGCU pursues this designation, the University seeks to increase the number of Hispanic and Latino faculty and staff and encourages Hispanic and Latino candidates to apply for these positions.

University Diversity Statement

Florida Gulf Coast University is a comprehensive university dedicated to quality education, research, and service. All faculty are expected to be excellent teachers, be responsive to changing professional needs, be committed to innovative delivery of instruction resulting in improved student learning, be committed to effective use of technology including distance learning, produce peer reviewed scholarship, and provide service to the College, University and Community. Teaching assignments may be on the main campus or at off-campus sites within our region.

Florida Gulf Coast University is committed to establishing and maintaining an inclusive working and learning environment in which students, faculty, administrators, staff, curriculum, social activities, governance, and all other aspects of the campus life reflect a diverse, multi-cultural, and international worldview.

At FGCU, we collectively stand against any individual or group that practices any form of racism, discrimination, intolerance, hate expressions, or disrespect. We are committed to preparing students to understand, live among, appreciate, and work in an inherently diverse country and world made up of people with different ethnic and racial backgrounds, religious beliefs, abilities, ages, gender identities, sexual orientations, socio-economic status, cultural traditions, family statuses, and military backgrounds. FGCU strives to hire great people from a wide variety of backgrounds, not just because it's the right thing to do, but because it makes our University stronger. The University community recognizes the importance of a diverse and inclusive institution and holds these ideals as paramount for the current and future success of the institution.

We seek colleagues who promote and embrace diversity, equity, and inclusion. We encourage individuals from diverse backgrounds to apply for this position as we believe that our University will grow and move forward through a commitment of equality for all.
